Take a look at some heavenly

You really don't need a telescope to sight the savings at fabulous Food Giant because they are the kind of savings that even a short sighted shopper could see at ten paces. Come to think of it, heavenly is not as descriptive a word to describe F.G.'s savings — "down to earth" savings would be more correct. Smart shoppers save more at Food Giant because Food Giant sells more groceries and things to more people than any other store in the community . . . the more we sell the more economically we can do business, and the cheaper we can sell to you . . . come on over and see for yourself.
